AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

About the City of Chino:

The City of Chino is located in the southwestern corner of San Bernardino County, and borders Los Angeles, Orange and Riverside counties. Over the last three decades the City has transitioned from being a predominantly rural community to a suburban community encompassing almost 21 square miles and serving as a home to over 70,000 residents. This transition has been led by significant high-quality commercial and industrial growth and the City's ongoing commitment to planning, quality development and excellence in the delivery of services. Future growth will be driven by the development of two newly master planned communities "The Preserve" and "College Park". Collectively, over the next two decades, these new communities will add approximately 12,000 housing units, 11 million square feet of supporting commercial space, a new community college campus capable of handling 15,000 full-time students, and a 140-acre regional park to the City.
